NOTICE

Every year in May we face the problem of closing school before the schedule date due to tremendous rise of heat in weather condition. This year no such problems we faced in May. I closed school on 11th May whereas many schools closed on 18th May. There were intermittent rainfalls in summer this year which relaxed us now and then. But most surprisingly after 11th June when we opened our school, there was no sign of rain. Mercury level went high upto 42 degree giving us unprecedented heat and unpredictable discomfort. I closed school on Friday 15th June as Id Ul Fitar holiday coupled with too much hot weather. Hardly other schools did. Now my prediction is rain will fall by 26th June. I am hopeful on 27th June (Wednesday) our children and students will be able to come to school with comfort. The dates of Unit Test will be postponed. We will decide such dated after the school opens on 27th June. Let's hope the monsoon hits West Bengal soon and give respite to the school going community. Teachers also deserve a portion of this emergency holidays. Thanks.
